

February 4, 2009

For Immediate Release:

Domain Capital is Lending.

Domain Capital has money to lend entrepreneurs looking to purchase domain names. With services designed for existing domain name owners, prospective domain name owners, and Internet registry and transaction brokers, Domain Capital is ready to serve the financial needs of its constituencies.

It is no secret that these are challenging economic times. According to Robert Alfano, President of Domain Capital, "Savvy investors look for opportunities during downturns. Domain Capital is rock-solid financially. Our principled investing strategy utilizing proper due diligence is enabling us to keep lending to qualified borrowers.

Gregg Freeman, COO of Domain Capital, adds, "By borrowing to purchase the right domain name, business owners free up significant financial resources to reinvest and grow their core business."

Domain Capital offers financing and refinancing to businesses based on the inherent and recognized value of premium domain names. Domain's vision is to innovate exciting new financial products and services designed to enable entrepreneurs to exploit new business models. For more information, go to www.domaincapital.com.

For more information, please contact:

Robert Alfano

Domain Capital

201.302.5100 x 23

ralfano@domaincapital.com

Gregg Freeman

Domain Capital

201.302.5100 x 24

gfreeman@domaincapital.com